The Magic of the Games: A Closer Look at Whose Line Is It Anyway? on DVD

The heart and soul of Whose Line Is It Anyway? lie in its improv games. And on DVD, you can dissect, analyze (or just rewatch for the hundredth time!) these comedic masterpieces. Here are some of the most beloved games you'll find on the Whose Line Is It Anyway? DVD collections:

Scenes from a Hat

This is a classic for a reason. Audience members write suggestions on slips of paper, which are then drawn from a hat. The performers then act out these often absurd scenarios. The brilliance lies in the performers' ability to take a completely random suggestion and turn it into something hilarious. Whether it's "Things you might find in a genie's used underwear" or "Ways to annoy a vampire," the results are always unpredictable and often side-splitting.

Party Quirks

In "Party Quirks," one performer plays the host of a party, and the others are guests with specific, often bizarre, quirks. The host has to guess what each quirk is. This game is a masterclass in character work and physical comedy. You'll see incredible transformations and witness performers embodying everything from a "person who thinks they're a dog" to a "sentient tumbleweed."

Whose Line?

The titular game is where the performers act out a scene based on audience suggestions for characters, location, and situation. This is where the true essence of improv shines, as the performers have to build a narrative from scratch, often with minimal guidance. The results can range from heartwarming to utterly nonsensical, but they are always entertaining.

Props

This game involves two performers using props supplied by the audience to create a scene. The challenge is to make the props relevant to the story, often leading to some incredibly creative and funny uses of everyday objects.

HoeDown

A musical improv game where the performers sing a country-style song about a topic suggested by the audience. The lyrics are often witty, topical, and delivered with impressive musicality. It's a testament to the performers' versatility that they can switch from spoken improv to song so seamlessly.
